Evaluation Letter

I am pleased to evaluate the "From Waste to Wear: Building Skills for a Greener Wardrobe (GREEN WARDROBE)" project, which brought together 49 young participants from 7 organizations. The project's aim was to empower young people to develop sustainable fashion practices by transforming waste materials into wearable art, thereby promoting environmental awareness and creativity.

The project focused on:

- Sustainable Fashion: Teaching participants how to upcycle waste materials into new clothing.
- Creative Design: Encouraging innovative fashion design using recycled resources.
- Environmental Education: Raising awareness about the environmental impact of fast fashion.
- Skill Development: Equipping participants with practical skills in sewing, tailoring, and garment design.
- Cultural Exchange: Sharing diverse perspectives on sustainability and fashion across different cultures.
- Community Engagement: Fostering a sense of community and mutual support in the pursuit of greener lifestyles.

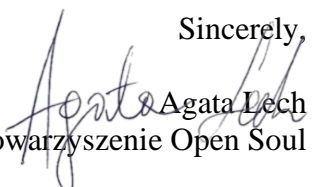

The facilitators created a welcoming and inclusive atmosphere. We engaged in diverse activities—from upcycling workshops and fashion design sessions to environmental discussions and collaborative projects—that enhanced our understanding of sustainable fashion.

The outdoor setting was perfect for our sessions, and the cultural and experiential diversity of the group enriched our discussions and broadened our perspectives on creating a sustainable wardrobe.

The project had a significant impact on me. It provided valuable skills and knowledge for transforming waste into wearable fashion and reinforced the importance of sustainability in our daily lives. The creative outcomes, such as our upcycled clothing and design showcases, highlighted our growth and learning.

The GREEN WARDROBE project was a transformative experience. It was well-organized, engaging, and impactful. We are grateful for the opportunity to participate and look forward to applying the insights gained in our personal and professional endeavors.

Sincerely,

Agata Lech
